

florida / caribbean ARCHITECT

Gallo Architects & Development Consultants, Inc. (GADC) has received the 2004 Institutional Property Community Appearance Award from the City of Fort Lauderdale for the design of the new Welcome Center and offices at Historic Stranahan House in Fort Lauderdale. The $300,000 project includes the complete design and construction of a 1,100-square-foot structure on the historic Stranahan

Above, the historic Stranahan House in Fort Lauderdale, was built in 1915. Left, Ford Amphitheatre, Tampa.

Design Awards Issue
fall 2004

Official Journal of the Florida Association of the American Institute of Architects

